Bill Would Put Tag Agencies in Cities

A proposed legislative act to put tag agencies in cities and towns of Texas outside of county seats is being prepared for presentation in the state legislature by Senator W. A. Shofner of Bell County.

The bill would direct the appointment of some reputable business man in each of the larger towns of the state to issue car license tags in an effort to save motorists the expense and trouble of going to the county seat for their tags, Shofner said. He said the bill would create approximately 1,000 places to buy tags instead of the present 254.

Two councilmen will be up for election in the April voting. They are I. R. Witt and O. D. Roland, whose offices will be up for a two-year term.

Other councilmen and the mayor will be up for election in 1950, Toler said.

Sleet, Ice Storm Set Record Low

Rain and Snow Give More Than Three Inches of Precious Moisture to Open Year

Held for four days in the grip of the year's worst blizzard, Hamlin and the surrounding area were given assurance of a break in the extreme cold when clearing skies Thursday morning brought the first appreciable thaw to ice-covered grounds.

The blizzard struck Hamlin shortly after 6:00 o'clock Monday morning and sent the mercury plummeting to a low of 20 degrees by noon of that day.

The lowest reading for the week, and the record low for the winter, was registered Monday night and early Tuesday when the thermometer at the Humble Oil camp read 16 degrees, according to O. G. Harvey.

From its seasonal low, the mercury climbed slightly later Tuesday but remained in the low twenties until late Wednesday.

Snow, sleet and rain which fell Monday and Tuesday brought much needed moisture to this West Texas area, to add to the precipitation already received during the month.

According to the records at the Hamlin pump station, a total of 3.69 inches of moisture have been registered during the first 27 days of January.

In the first 18 days a total of 1.23 inches were recorded. Other precipitation since that date is reported as follows: January 22, 19; January 23, 80; January 24, 79; January 25, 31; January 26, 21; January 27, 16.

Total precipitation during the entire month of January 1948 was only .13 of an inch, the pump station reported.

Unlike the heavy blizzard of two weeks ago, when ice covered trees,

The Dog and the Tail

When a dog wags his tail, that's normal. But when the tail attempts to wag the dog, that's astounding.

However, during the past few years there have grown up within our country numerous divisions of government which have so far forgotten their rights and prerogatives that they are engaged in a constant effort to "wag the dog." They are using their offices as focal points from which to bring pressure to have our entire political and economic systems revised according to their ephemeral whims.

An example at hand is a so-called "news" release which arrived on the editor's desk Wednesday morning. It is one of several which have come through the mail recently—postage free—from the Dallas branch of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Each of them has been filled with argument for some socialistic scheme that the bureaucrats want to cram down the throats of Americans. By no stretch of the most elastic imagination could they be labeled as news. By these propaganda handouts the bureaucrats are seeking to mold public opinion in the likeness of these radical labor employees.

Most of the handouts quote one William J. Rogers, a remote and obscure recipient of public funds. He is hailed in the releases as an omnipotent, omniscient individual whose words of wisdom are absolutely essential to the forward progress of democracy.

It is bad enough when upstart bureaucrats try to take over all of the democratic functions of a representative government. But when they also force long-suffering taxpayers to foot the cost of their pernicious efforts, by using salaried men to write their propaganda, and by mailing it in franked envelopes, that's adding insult to injury. No wonder Truman has asked for the largest budget in history!

Isn't it about time that democratic (?) congressmen take action to curb some of the unorthodox actions of these leeches on the body politic? Let's write to our congressman and see if once again we can get back to normal democracy wherein the dog is able to control the tail.

Doctors Under Bureaucrats

According to an AP dispatch from London, "Britain's national health service—the world's biggest experiment in socialized medicine—is undergoing a strain." That strain, in the view of Health Minister Bevan, results from the fact that "too many are demanding too much." In other words, people are working on the theory that they may as well visit the doctor whether they are sick or not, because "free" medical service is coming to them. This situation has reached so extreme a point that Mr. Bevan issued a public statement in which he said: "Don't let us become a nation of hypochondriacs. I ask the public to use their doctors wisely and only when they really need them."

It is also evident that the cost of providing allegedly "free" health service for all is approaching a critical point. The government's original forecast was that the bill would run to 150,000,000 pounds a year. But the actual cost, according to the British Medical Association, will exceed 250,000,000 pounds.

The most important thing, of course, is just what Britain's socialistic experiment is doing to the standards of medical care. And here, too, some significant and authoritative information is available. Lord Horder, physician in ordinary to the royal family, has this to say: "Medicine in Britain has become a branch of the civil service. We are no longer medical experts; we sit and sign forms. We have no time to diagnose our patient's diseases; but pass them on to other persons and institutions, knowing full well that they cannot dispense the health benefits which may or may not be needed."

Wild Statements of Labor Leader Gives Distorted Profits Picture

By Dr. Alfred P. Haake

What would you think of a doctor who had made a mistaken diagnosis of a disease, but refused to correct his mistake when shown that he was in error, and insisted on prescribing the wrong medicine—poisoning the patient in order to save his own face...?

Fortunately for us, the doctor of medicine is more concerned with saving his patient than he is with having his own face. But we are not so fortunate when it comes to certain political and economic doctors with their mistaken diagnoses and false remedies.

Right now Washington is seething with wild talk about exorbitant profits and projects for renewed price controls and excess-profits taxes. One would almost think that people who save their money and invest it in stocks and bonds were public enemies. On the contrary they make it possible to create more and better jobs for workers everywhere as well as produce more goods for all of us to use.

Actually, these mistreated investors who risk their savings in business and industry are patriots in a very practical sense, the truly forgotten men and women—victims of double penalties for their faith on America.

When we tax corporations and also dividends we not only take a huge portion of all profits away from productive use and waste it on government, but, on top of that, we levy a second tax on the same profits or what is left of them, when they are distributed as dividends to stockholders.

We fought a war once to free ourselves of taxation without representation, and now we desecrate that victory of long ago by double taxing the profits which are necessary to progress and prosperity.

If the profits were actually exorbitant we would find competition stepping in to take care of them—or, if they resulted from monopolies which no longer exist, we could discipline them with the anti-trust laws which Thurmand Arnold used so effectively, and not always justly, against business.

But the truth is that profits are NOT exorbitant. They are miscalculated and badly misrepresented and falsely quoted and used.

A labor leader recently told a radio audience that 1948 profits were so exorbitant that we could pay a 25 per cent increase to all employees by merely taking the increases out of profits, and still leave more net profits than we had in 1939. He announced the huge sum of 40 billions of dollar profits for 1948.

Then he admitted that he had to Search for Security Motivated Mankind Throughout His History

By George Peck

History is the story of man's effort to establish economic security. At least this has been true during the 4,000 years of which we have authentic knowledge. What transpired during the previous countless centuries that men have ruled the earth is purely conjecture, but it seems reasonable to assume that during that period, man's striving for economic security was even more intense than is his struggle today.

This endeavor will continue to be the first problem of man, at least, as long as any of us live. And, just as long as it is man's objective, unless mankind undergoes a spiritual renaissance, we will have wars and threats of wars, because wars are the result of man's frustrated efforts to achieve economic security.

America's present danger emanates from Europe and Asia. The troubles of these two continents for many centuries have been the same—their peoples have never had enough food and other natural resources to go around. As a last measure of desperation, was invariably has been the means employed in an effort to improve a nation's economic position.

Today, Europe and Asia are the hodge-podge of hundreds of races of men that have fought more than 1,000 large and small wars during the past 40 centuries. Periods of peace have been the exception rather than the rule. The balance of power and the possession of territories have changed hands time and time again.

A typical case is the first great civilization—Egypt. Since being toppled from her eminent position by the rugged Hyksos about 1800 B. C., she has been conquered by the Assyrians, Negroes, Semitics, Syrians, Persians, Macedonians, Greeks, Romans, Arabs, Turks, French and finally the English. Present events in the Near East indicate that Egypt may fall prey to still another conqueror before long.

The eternal questions of who owns what and who is entitled to it, have been hopelessly lost in the confusion of endless conquests and counter conquests. Racial bloodlines have been fantastically mixed as a result of wholesale slavery and the commonly accepted practice of the conquerors raping the captured women.

The idea that man can live at peace with his neighbors is peculiar to those nations that have within their borders all of the good things of life necessary to maintain a satisfactory standard of living. The United States is one of these fortunate nations. As a result, we long deluded ourselves into believing that the once-vast expanses of ocean protected us from all harm.

That dream of safety has been rudely shattered. Now we know we are confronted with the stern reality of a world that has shrunk in size. We are woefully unprepared to face it. Our problem is not a shortage of armaments, armies, navies, and air-forces. We can build those. Our real need is national intelligence—a sound, sane conception on America really is so that hat and preserving. That is harder to build than tanks, planes, battleships.

We Americans know very little and practical economics too few of us appreciate the realistic American System of prudence under which we live. We would know that many things we have permitted the Government to do in recent years are not new schemes—they are as old as the hills—they have been innumerable times and every which heretofore embraced has gone down to destruction.

VD Menace Can Be Wiped Out, Tests Are Urged

Throughout America men and women have become conscious necessity for fighting the menace of venereal diseases, and it is a matter of pride to public workers the entire nation now joins in the advance of National Social Day, which in this year is January 28.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said that at the present time three rapid treatment centers are being operated in Texas, located in San Antonio, Waco and Fort Worth, and that a total of approximately 15,000 patients per year are being treated in these centers. Sixty-five venereal disease clinics are also in operation throughout the state, and these clinics as well as the rapid treatment centers are mainly for the treatment of indigent and semi-indigent persons referred by physicians or local health departments.

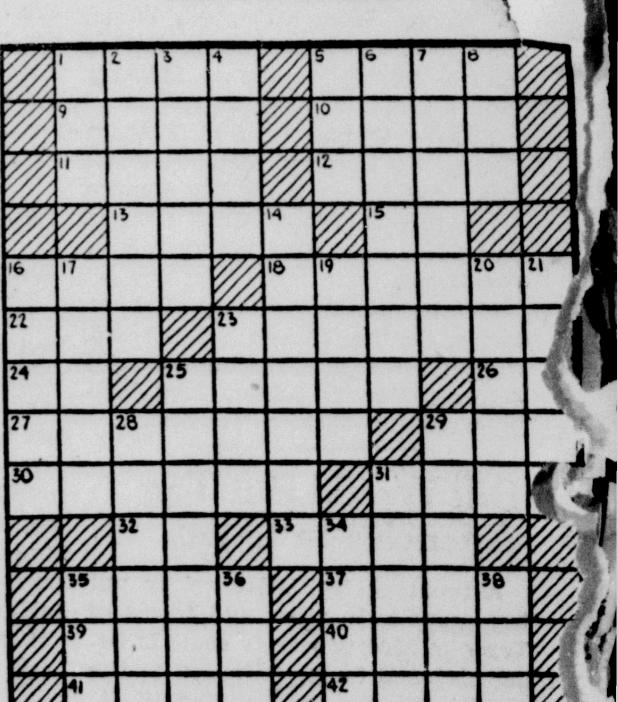

In the past two years a blocking survey of more than 80,000 persons has disclosed that between 10 and 10 per cent of that number have tested positive for syphilis and gonorrhea. The large majority of them did not know they had the disease and had medical treatment for it.

The idea that man can live at peace with his neighbors is peculiar to those nations that have within their borders all of the good things of life necessary to maintain a satisfactory standard of living. The United States is one of these fortunate nations. As a result, we long deluded ourselves into believing that the once-vast expanses of ocean protected us from all harm.

Abilene Stock Show Set for March 5-9

Final plans for the Abilene Fat Stock Show, to be held March 5-9, have been mapped, according to the show's General Superintendent, J. I. Moore.

This annual event, which is sponsored by the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, is open to all FFA and 4-H Club boys and girls in a 20 county region of West Texas. The large volume of early entries indicates that the size of this year's show will exceed last year's highly successful exhibition which set an all-time record of over 600 entries. In addition to the regular departments for beef calves, swines, lambs, and capons, two new departments have been established for broilers and rabbits.

The following schedule will be observed for the show:

Saturday, March 5—Taylor County Show.

Monday, March 7, 9:00 a. m.—District Lamb Show.

Monday, March 7, 2:00 p. m.—District Calf Show.

Tuesday, March 8, 9:00 a. m.—District Swine Show.

Tuesday, March 8, 2:00 p. m.—District Capon and Rabbit Shows.

Wednesday, March 9, 1:00 p. m.—Auction Sale.

ping farm prices five to 10 cents below Christmas week. However, most markets in this area opened Monday about steady. Current receipts ranged from 36 to 40 cents per dozen. Rising production and continued dull demand were the chief forces in the market.

Poultry prices kept an even keel as good demand absorbed light supplies. About the only change was the weakness of fryers. Heavy hens remained around 30 to 33 cents.

Cattle prices broke around the market circle last week under the pressure of several weeks of heavy shipments, dull demand in the dressed beef trade and competition from increased pork supplies. Losses ranged mostly from $1 to $1.50 per 100 pounds with cows suffering the most. Vealers and some stocker cattle escaped the decline. Monday's markets made an effort to erase some of these losses, but higher asking prices slowed down trading. Sales were about steady with Friday's close.

Hogs rebounded Monday with gains of 25 cents to $1 per 100 pounds. This partially offset last week's losses of mostly 50 cents to $1, the result of the heaviest hog runs so far this year at southwest markets. Monday's quotations for best butchers ranged from a low of $20 at Fort Worth to a high of $22.50 at Denver. Sows brought anywhere from $15 to $17.50.

Bad weather took the blame for last week's lightest sheep and lamb receipts at southwest markets this year. But despite these small supplies, the weakness in other livestock prices crept into the market, with slaughter lambs declining around 25 to 50 cents. However, Monday saw prices turn fully steady to stronger.

Scattered sales of southwest wool were firm. Some contracts were made in Texas for eight-months wool at 60 cents per pound, f.o.b. Mohair moved slowly at steady price. Rain, snow and ice helped to broaden the demand for hay last week. Both southwest and midwest markets were firm. Fort Worth sold U. S. No. 1 grade alfalfa at $39.50 to $42.50 per ton, wholesale Kansas City quoted same grades at $30 and up.

Most wholesale prices of feeds worked their way lower last week. Cottonseed and alfalfa meal took the sharpest tumble. Bran and shorts withstood the decline fairly well.

Modern Dianas Party Held in Hassen Home

Members of the Modern Dianas club met in the home of Nozik Hassen Saturday evening for their second "aftr hours" party. Because most of the members are employed and could not attend a party before 10:00 p. m., the pop corn and fudge social began at 10:00 p. m.

Those present were: Margaret Ryan, Beverly Harvey, Nozik Hassen, Gamile Hassen, Virginia Brown, Frances Jenkins, Winnie Hassen and the two sponsors, Mrs. O. G. Harvey and Mrs. Euell Carter.

went up a half to three cents per bushel, sorghums a nickel and barley a penny. Oats lost about a half cent and wheat remained the same. Southwest fruits and vegetables moved at steady to weaker prices last week. Rio Grande Valley markets leveled off after recent reaction to freeze in other areas.

Cotton closed Monday around $2.50 to $3 per bale higher than a week ago, but about $11 per bale lower than a year ago.

Drouths Part of Cycle Covering America for Ages

While Jones County generally received more rain than some West Texas counties during 1948, range and farm lands were suffering from lack of moisture at the start of the new year. However, the recent sleet, snow and rains have added much to the basic moisture of the area.

The recent Texas drouth was part of a climatic cycle which can be expected to recur about every 11 or 12 years, says a University of Texas archaeologist who is interested in the relation between climatic change and human history in North America.

Alex D. Kreiger, participant in a program on weather cycles at the recent Plains Archaeological conference in Lincoln, Nebraska, says drouths have recurred repeatedly for many centuries in the Great Plains states, and this information should be a sign-post to farmers to anticipate these changes in their crop planning.

He points to modern drouth periods in 1934-36, 1923-24, 1910-12, 1899-1901, and the 1830's as examples of climatic cycles which have had profound effects on American economy.

Establishment of the exact dates on climatic periods in North America during the past 25,000 years is one of the problems facing climatologists.

The archaeologist can date his finds through geological and other means, thus helping the climatologist to determine the date of climatic periods which changed life on this continent during the past 25,000 years, Kreiger says.

Cotton to Be Gathered Mosly Mechanically

Horace Hayden, vice president of the National Cotton Ginner's Association, said last week-end at Dallas that he believes half of the nation's cotton crop will be harvested mechanically within the next year or two.

Hayden was in Dallas from Oklahoma City to attend a joint meeting of officers and directors of NCGA and the Texas Cotton Ginner's Association. He said that only four or five per cent of the crop is now picked mechanically.

"It means," he said, "that the crop will be ginned in 90 to 100 days instead of twice that amount of time formerly required. This in turn means that radically improved machinery must be installed at great expense to the ginners."

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Duncan were guests of Mrs. Duncan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Moore in Santa Anna last week-end.

Dr. and Mrs. Don Gould and children spent Sunday in Stamford as guests of Dr. Gould's mother, Dr. Beulah Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stephenson of Abilene spent Sunday in Hamlin as guests of Stephenson's mother, Mrs. Etta Stephenson.

If the action be of worth that I take in hand, neither shall an ill accident dis courage me, nor a good one make me careless.—Owen Feltham.

Veterans News

The questions and answers below about veteran problems are carried as a service column by the Herald. Material for the column is supplied by the area office of the Veterans Administration at Lubbock.

Veterans enrolled under the GI Bill in on-the-job training courses or in schools below the college level who desire leave of absence, should apply for it at their training establishment or school, and not at the Veterans Administration.

In the past, these veterans were required to make application at the appropriate VA regional office. Now, they must obtain approval from their employer-trainer or school official before going on leave.

Advance leave is provided only in cases of emergency.

Leave is accrued at the rate of two and one-half days a month throughout training—including that time during which the veteran is on approved leave of absence. However, it may not be accrued beyond 30 days.

Veterans training on-the-job or in below-college-level courses under Public Law 16 (for the disabled) must continue to apply for leave at VA.
